

THE REPUBLICAN

SAMUEL E. BOYS, Editor and Prop.

ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY.

Entered as second class matter January 14, 1911, at the post office at Plymouth, Indiana, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year.....$1.50
Six months......75
Three months......35
The paper will be continued until a order is received, except where subscribers live outside this county. The date on the yellow slip is the date to which you have paid.

THE LEGISLATURE

At midnight next Monday the State Legislature will adjourn. After the smoke of battle has cleared away and the laws actually passed are dug out of the debris, the people will begin to know how much good and how much evil the assembly has done.

That some good laws have been enacted cannot be disputed—it would be a very extraordinary legislature indeed that would not pass a few good measures. But that a number of bad, if not vicious, statutes have been made is the fear of many citizens. Just to what extent these laws prevail will not be known until the laws are published and examined, yet a general impression and fair view of the work may be had by a careful perusal of the new acts as soon as the legislature adjourns.

The general feeling now is that the session has been an extravagant one without accomplishing as much for the good of the state as it should.

GOOD BOOKKEEPING

It should be a source of gratification to the people of Marshall county that the state examiners found only a small discrepancy in the county auditor's books, after a most thorough examination of them.

The auditor's books are far the most important in the courthouse. They cover the assessments, which are so interesting, keep track of all the other county officers, keep the accounts of all the township trustees, keep the record of every school board in the county, have the assessors' lists, care for all the bills presented to the county commission and which are paid by them, make the records of the county commission and boards of review, and county council, besides many other important matters and details too numerous to name or think about at once.

The fact that all these records have been so carefully kept is reason for congratulation. Good work in such matters, wherever found, deserves praise, and the Republican is glad to give it whenever opportunity offers.

FOR THE LIBRARY

Everything seems now clearing up nicely for the public library. The last official act made necessary for the rapid progress of the matter was taken when the city council passed the resolution accepting Mr. Carnegie's gift and providing for the maintenance of the building.

The public, not subscribers alone, should pay ready heed to the notice of the Library Board asking that subscriptions be paid as promptly as possible that the work may go ahead rapidly, now that all preliminaries are out of the way and the coveted institution is assured.

Attention is directed to the article given in the Republican a few days ago telling about the use made of the library by the Rochester people. The report of the secretary shows that the people of that community are using the books more and more as the years go by—that it is not a passing thing, used only when new and interesting, but that the longer it is there the more value it is to the people of the community.

When Plymouth gets her library the story will be the same. The longer we use it the happier we will be that we have it.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Answering Mr. Miller—
Merchant of Venice, Act 1, Scene 3
Antonio—"Mark you this, Bassanio. The Devil can cite Scripture for his purpose.

An evil soul producing holy witness
Is like a villain with a smiling cheek.

A goodly apple rotten at the heart:
O, what a goodly outside falsehood hath!"

Also
Habakkuk 2: 15.

"Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth his bottle to him, and maketh him drunk, also"—etc.

He Would Like to Know.

Editor Republican:
I have two questions I would like to have you or some one answer. In last week's Republican you mention that one Geo. W. Brown of Louisville, Ky., has published a pamphlet quoting every Bible statement favorable to the use of wine or spirits. Now there was some one else of whom it was said that "He could quote scripture for his purpose."

Who was it?
There is a declaration somewhere that reads like this: "Cursed be he that puts the bottle to his neighbors lips."

Where can I find this statement? I think it, too, is in the Bible or Uncle Tom's Cabin, but I can't find just where it is.

J. A. Miller.
Summit Range, Ind., March 1911.

Ramers are coming through the newspapers that hair rats must go. Perhaps this is not news at all to those ladies who keep up with the Paris fashions, but it will be welcome news to some men.

Judge Stubbs Dead.

Judge Geo. W. Stubbs of the Indianapolis juvenile court is dead as a result of injuries received by being struck by an interurban car on Friday. He died last night. Judge Stubbs was a very widely known officer and has been judge of the Marion county juvenile court since 1903.

Obituary of Lida Thompson

Lida Alice, daughter of Mrs. M. J. Boyce, was born Oct. 7, 1884 and died at the home of her mother, 314 South Michigan street, Plymouth, Ind., March 6, 1911, at the age of 26 years and 5 months. In September 1907 she was married to James Edward Thompson. They went to Liberal, Kan., only to spend a short but happy married life when her husband was taken from her in July 1909. This loss was so deeply felt by her that she had no desire to live and frequently talked of joining her husband where there would be no more parting.

She was converted and joined the M. E. church at Gilead when young and proved herself a faithful and efficient worker in the church and Sunday School.

She was a kind and loving daughter and sister. During her sickness she was patient until death came, although her suffering was great.

She leaves to mourn her loss a mother, five sisters, three brothers, and many friends.

Funeral will be held at Richland Center, Ind., Thursday at 11:30 A. M.

Dearest Lida, thou hast left us,
And thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God who has bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.

Obituary.

John Hancock was born April 4, 1844 near Somerville, Ohio, died Feb. 19, 1911 at Richmond, Ind.

He was not an old man as he was often heard to remark, and his desire was strong to live on and continue a life which had been full of activity and usefulness.

But realizing that this was not to be he made all preparations for the end. A father, mother, four brothers, three sisters and two little children have preceded him to the better land.

Their shadowy forms have hovered about him during his later days for he was heard to call their names as if in greeting.

He was a good man. His family kindred, and life-long friends pronounce this eulogy as a final tribute to him.

No blemish rests upon his honor or criticism upon his Christian character. Three daughters, Elita, wife of Dr. E. H. Abbott of Mt. Healthy, Ohio, Anne, wife of E. L. Hedrick of Newport, Kentucky, and Bethiah, wife of C. C. Thomas of Richmond, Ind., also, three brothers, Elisha of Hamilton, Ohio, and William T. of Somerville, O., and Isaac of Camden, O.,

and four grandchildren besides his wife, Harriet survive him.

For forty-five years these two have trodden life's pathway together, and together they have made their home a veritable haven where hospitality has been cheerfully dispensed to all who came within their doors.

She now feels that she must go on alone.

Yet, not alone!
There will ever be near her the comforter of human hearts.

May He speak to her today,
So—comforting her,
Dear husband beloved,
Father, brother, kinsman,
Friend—farewell.

Some day we hope to greet you in that beautiful land where pain and sickness never enter, and where you, today, are walking with Him who has called you to an eternal home and to an everlasting reward.

COMMENDABLE WORK

The Republican wishes to commend the Saturday club for their interest in the library. They have shown their desire for it by taking up the home talent play "The Mock Court Trial," the proceeds of which will be given to the library fund.

Such a play every one knows takes much hard work, and the fact that the ladies have taken hold of it not only assure success for it, but strongly commends them to the public as a very progressive club. The library will benefit and all the community will appreciate their efforts.
